THE VULCAN ADVOCATE, THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1931.

Subscription $2.00

Saturday Night is Last Chance to Help Your Favorite with Big Credits

Your Subscription NOW Will Help More Than Regrets
Afterwards. Sealed Ballot Box and Small Credits Next Week. Campaign Closes Saturday, April 25th.

LEADERS MONDAY SHOULD BE WINNERS!

JACOBSON, MRS. LILY, Vulcan	832,625
HILL, MRS. E. M., Vulcan	828,175
ROEBUCK, MISS GERTRUDE, Kirkcaldy	825,925
WALKER, MRS. ROSS, Reid Hill	825,900
MUEHLE WILLIAM, Vulcan	820,000
CRAIG, MISS HELEN, Vulcan	611,350
McPHERSON, MISS MABEL, Vulcan	602,075

To-morrow night (Saturday) is positively the last chance to get the big credits in the campaign. Never again will subscriptions count as much as they do now and up until the closing hour Saturday night. Under no circumstances will credits on subscriptions be increased during the balance of the campaign.

With honors thus far about equally divided, leading candidates are preparing with feverish haste and intensity to make their final stand for victory before Saturday night, the close of the "Second Period," and, incidentally the last of subscriptions to be accepted by the campaign department.

Hundreds of subscriptions will be turned into this office this week. Will you get your share of them? You will if your mind is made up to win the Chevrolet sedan, worth $1012.00. To hesitate now you might lose the prize that is worth a fortune, and one that is coveted by each candidate in the race.

Race Might Close
Any doubt as to the closeness of the race has been removed, as anyone of the leading candidates is in a position to land the first prize. Also it is proven that there is a bunch of go-getters in this territory, who do not stand back on formalities but pitch right into the fray and get what is coming to them.

Interest in the race is running high and it has not been confined to this locality alone, but has reached out to each individual community and there are hundreds of eager friends who are watching the outcome. Community pride as well as personal pride is very evident and the race has been fast and furious for the past few days. It is more than probable that the credits gained this week, before the drop in values, are apt to be the deciding factor.

Big Credits End Saturday
Saturday night is the end of the "Second Period" and the credits take a big drop. BUT—the most important change is that there are no more DOUBLE credits issued on NEW subscriptions. For example—a new five-year subscription turned in by Saturday night earns 160,000 credits but next week it is only worth 60,000 credits. Even the one-year has a big difference—it is worth 3,000 credits now but only 1,000 next week.

Chance to Win Now
From the above figures you can see that if any worker can step out with a good-sized lead, it would be a hard job for a competitor to catch up with them using the smaller credits. That is why we say that leaders next Monday morning should be final winners. Don't flatter yourself that you have enough credits to win, for you will surely be disappointed. You had better win by a thousand credits than to lose by a few thousand. There are many subscribers who have not as yet renewed their subscription and there are hundreds in the trade territory who should be on our list. We are putting it squarely up to you. Time is getting short and the credits are getting smaller.

Be Safe Saturday
The "Second Period" will end on Saturday night as soon as all candidates have reported in full and credits will take another drop and double credits on new subscriptions will be discontinued. Next week candidates will make their reports in private and drop them in a sealed ballot box in the Canadian Bank of Commerce. No one, not even the campaign managers know how much business is done by any worker. At the close of the campaign, Saturday, April 25th, a committee of local men, composed of L. A. Wright, H. S. Sutherland and J. Dobbs Jr., will open the box, check the contents and award the prizes. See next week's paper for closing hour and final details.

PIONEER RESIDENT LAID TO REST

After a long and useful life, Lars Hanson quietly passed away at his home four miles north of Vulcan at 11:20 Sunday morning, April 12, 1931. Mr. Hanson had had several attacks of apoplexy during the last five years. About three months ago he was confined to his bed as the result of another stroke. At times there were marks of improvements, but these were followed by more serious attacks, and the end was not unexpected.

Mr. Hanson was born in Norway, May 29, 1876. His beloved wife predeceased him on February 24, 1921. They moved to the United States in 1880, and lived in South Dakota until 1889, when they moved to Idaho. This State held Mr. and Mrs. Hanson for seven years, then with a large bunch of horses, they and their small sons rigged up two covered wagons and trekked back across Montana and into North Dakota, where they farmed until 1904.

Then, like hundreds of others who helped to make the West, as long as there was new country to be settled they had to be there, so, with all the family, except the eldest boy, Hans, who remained in North Dakota, they came by train to Staveland, Alberta.

They lived there that winter, and early the following spring moved to their present location, which at that time was truly the bald prairie, having been burned off by a huge prairie fire the fall previous.

With a good sense of humor and a kind and generous heart, Mr. Hanson made a good pioneer and neighbor. He is survived by nine children: Hans in North Dakota; Ole, Ed, Martin, Magnus, Louis, Sam, Ada (Mrs. J.M. Hill), and Minnie (Mrs. Oliver Anderson), all of Vulcan. All the children, except Ed and Sam, who are unmarried, have families. There are twenty-one grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The funeral took place from the United Church, Vulcan, on Wednesday, April 15 at two o'clock, Rev. J.N. Brunton officiating. Interment was made in the Highland cemetery.

ANNIVERSARY VIMY CELEBRATED HERE

Under auspices of the Vulcan Branch of the Canadian Legion a smoking concert was held in the Memorial hall on Thursday evening, April 9th, to celebrate the anniversary of Vimy Day. Interest in the occasion was sustained throughout the evening by a good gathering of returned men and the program was kept going with out a dull moment by Dr. G. M. Carson, president of the Vulcan branch, in the chair.

The "boys" were admirably catered for and rationed with a bill of fare that did justice to the occasion.

The program, as customary on these occasions started with the silent toast to "Our Fallen Comrades," followed by the singing of Canada's national anthem, "The Maple Leaf Forever." So that smoking could be indulged in, the chairman, with thoughtful consideration for the wants of those present, proposed early in the program the toast to "The King." This toast was answered by Mr. D. H. Galbraith, who spoke in his usual humorous style. Then the gathering set itself to enjoy the occasion that brought them together and joining heartily in songs familiar to those who went through the war.

Those in the gathering who had been in the famous capture of Vimy Ridge were called upon to describe the scene of that memorable occasion which they did in splendid style.

Songs by Henry Dorte, Billy Anderson, H. K. Picken and "Scotty" Brown delighted the audience as by the hearty applause. Recitations were numerous and all were encored with great gusto.

An evening which marked the Vimy smoker as a most enjoyable occasion was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the King."

Mr. W. D. Allan acted as floor manager in his usual entertaining style, while Joe Tomte and His Orchestra supplied the music better than ever, with the assistance of an added instrument in the form of bass saxophone.

Skating at Lake McGregor

Southern Alberta's reputation for mild winter weather is further attested to by a group of local skaters, pictured above, who enjoyed an hours recreation on the glassy surface of Lake McGregor, one sunny afternoon recently. Lake McGregor has offered excellent skating this winter and the pictures shown here were taken on January 31, 1931. Unlike the scenes of northern winter weather, for which this province has become famous, these pictures might well have been taken on an artificial ice pond in the south. Heavy skating togs and mufflers were abandoned and swimming suits proved comfortable garb for this sport, the skaters declared.—Courtesy of the Calgary Herald.

EARLY VULCAN DAYS

Under the above caption the "Left Hand Corner" of the Lethbridge Herald says:

The Rev. Mr. Brunton's comment on the revival of good fellowship in the rural areas of South Alberta as a result of the mitigation of the pressure of prosperity is well founded. Seventeen years ago, when the writer first visited Vulcan and district, gasoline was sold only in square cans. The most striking feature of the business section was the brilliant red glow from the rows of wagon wheels and running gear awaiting purchasers. But the good fellowship was there and there was no hesitancy about expressing it. Cigars were one medium of expression and ready-made cigarettes were rather despised.

Dad Fletcher, who was going into hoggs quite heavily that year, officiated at the first rural dance we attended in the district. It was somewhere near Ensign.

"Now, folks!" explained Dad, as he laid out the blueprints for the firemen's quadrille. "When I say, 'here' I mean on this side and when I say 'there' I mean over there. In other words, folks, here's here and there's there!" And up went his fiddle and the dance commenced.

Later in the year there came a song called "Tipperary," that was quite popular and conveyed no hint of the wonders and heart-breaks that were in store—hor of the economic changes that were to follow—altering the whole pattern of social activities until an intermission in their progress gave time to hear the echoes of those earlier years and recall what was best-loved about them.

BY TRUCK OR RAIL

When the public has an interest in any business, it is apt to be more concerned in the operation of that business. The government owns the Canadian National Railways and the attention of the public is naturally focusing on railway problems. The vast network of railway lines through out Canada is being threatened by the buses and trucks which travel the public highways day and night. Both freight and passenger traffic is losing.

Such rapid inroads have been made by the truck and bus business within the last few years, that the consequence has been far reaching. Yet it is impossible for Canada to get along without its railway transportation system. Geographical conditions determine this. All will concede that the railway has been the chief means of national development. It has colonized the country, opened up remote districts, built branch lines. This means inevitably an influx of merchants with business all benefiting by the outlay of the railroads.

But overnight the truck business has sprung up, light-heartedly sweeping up the sources of railway revenue and bound by no such restrictions as govern the railway. The truck system builds no road beds but is permitted the use and abuse of the people's highway under a relatively small fee.

The railways operate under a common carriers' law with the supervision of the Railway Commission. They must accept freight at rates fixed by the board. The trucks accept or reject under their own pleasure.

There should be some method of adjusting the relative responsibilities of truck lines and railroad lines. If railways refused to operate, there would be a wild protest, yet how can they continue under such active competition.

It is said that in some centres with heavy railroad payrolls, the employees are advised to patronize only those who patronize the railroads. Whether this is true or not, it seems only a reasonable effort toward self preservation.

Undoubtedly the truck system gives speedier service, but that accounts for only a part of their business. It may be they are cheaper in instances, but this is possible because of their proportionately small outlay. The railroads have made the present conditions possible through heavy initial outlay and costly maintenance. This must not be utterly disregarded.

The general public shows a growing disposition to see truck traffic more strictly regulated. It is a useful product of the age, but it is too often a menace to general welfare on the highways and undoubtedly, it wreaks quite disproportionate havoc on the highways. It has "free lanced" very profitably so far, but it should be governed by restrictions which put it more nearly on a basis with the railways.

Lord Rothermere alleges that his newspaper made Mr. Baldwin, Prime Minister through the exploitation of the Zenovieff letter and feels that Mr. Baldwin is ungrateful. Lord Beaverbrook claims that he made Lloyd George Prime Minister. Seeing that they both turned against their creatures, what confidence can the public have in their judgment? What the newspaper peers say now is, "We each made a mistake in selecting your Prime Minister for you in the past, but we are united now in declaring who shall not be Prime Minister." It is not so much the creatures who are on trial now—it is the creators. If when acting simply each made an error, what confidence can the electors have that they are not in error where acting in concert?

NOTES AND COMMENTS

If Winston Churchill had to live his life a second time, he declares he would live it as he did the first. Cocksure as ever and unrepentant still.

He admits he made mistakes but adds that these turned to his advantage. Fate cannot harm such a man. He is a Columbus searching for India, losing his way, and stumbling on a brand new continent.

Here's a man who says there would be fewer divorces if the husband selects his wife with as much judgment as he selects his car. In other words he would be parked where he sparked. Newspapers charge for engagement and wedding announcements, but if you get a divorce they publish all about it for nothing.

The C.P.R. Co. is fairly well known but it is now publishing full-page advertisements. The only institution that does not need to pay for advertising is Bernard Shaw.

How comes it that the bigoted and offensive partisan is always on the other side of politics?

English authors like Chesterton and Hutchinson say "Aren't I?" And only a colored man would reply: "I don't know whether you is or not, but I isn't." When it comes to being ungrammatical, the novelist has nothing on the negro.

A Cremation Society in London, England, advertises "Life membership $5, 5s, including cremation at death." It is understood, of course, that the life membership expires with cremation.

A harp that once belonged to Thomas Moore, has been found in Philadelphia, but it is not "The harp that once."

Medical writer observes that persons who live largely on milk and milk products have equable dispositions.

Why on earth is our country rent with disaffection and discontent?

Why do men rent and storm and swear

And stalk about with truculent air? Why are girls mean and women catty enough to drive their people batty? Why do folks raise such awful rows?—They don't drink milk from contented cows.

Lloyd George is harassed by followers who bolt. He knows now how Asquith felt under similar circumstances when Lloyd George himself led the bolters.

An Irishwoman objecting to Cosgrave being described as "President of Ireland," says some Irish people have as much right to object to that as Scotchman have to object to the word "England" being used where "Britain" is meant. Having driven back the Germans, a Highland regiment found inscribed on a trench these words in big block letters: "Gott Strafe England." An outraged Highlander got a brush and a pot of ink (now don't spoil the story by asking where he got them), covered the word "England" and put "Britain" there instead.

No one will be sorry that Theodore Dresser hit Sinclair Lewis. The only regret will be that Lewis did not hit back. Their quarrel arose over a charge and counter-charge of plagiarism, which is silly in view of the fact that there is nothing new under the sun. All great authors could be so accused. Even Shakespeare did it. That rhapsody of his about England being a "precious stone set in a silver sea," he stole from Bernard Shaw's Apple Cart, changed it a little and put in the mouth of old John of Gaunt. But Shaw makes no kick about that although he has his own opinion of Shakespeare as a rival playwright.

DO THEY DESERVE IT?

Every good woman who is cursed with a husband who is a poor bridge player will appreciate the sympathetic understanding shown by the Kansas City jury which acquitted Mrs. Myrtle Bennett. Mrs. Bennett with a fine show of public spirit shot her husband to death after he failed to make her bid of four spades.

Earlier in the evening, according to the evidence, she had told him "you are a bum bridge player." Instead of taking this as a warning to go for a walk round the block, or to study The Star's daily lessons on how to play bridge, he kept on in the game. When he found himself unable to make his wife's bid of four spades he slapped her face.

Fortunately she had brought her gun with her to the table and so was able to pump four shots into him before going on with the hand.

After her acquittal, Mrs. Bennett, who is somewhat of a good looker, received the handshakes and congratulations of the jurors, most of whom no doubt, felt a relief at knowing that another bum bridge player had been put where he can do no more harm to their play.

Mr. J. V. Patterson in our own legislature recently endeavored ineffectively to have a bill introduced providing for a medical examination of the parties before a marriage license is granted. It would be much more to the point these days to have an examination made of the applicants' skill at bridge, especially now the habit has been started by the ladies of taking their six-shooters with them to the table.—Regina Star.

ALDERSYDE ALBERTA

TO SHIP GRAIN TO NEEDY AREAS

Provincial Govt. Arranges With Dominion to Furnish Seed Grain

The Alberta department of agriculture announces the institution of a policy for the shipping of seed grain free of freight charges to farmers in those districts of the province now receiving the benefit of a special tariff on feed shipments. The district affected comprises some thirty municipal units in the central eastern sections of the province, and a few other isolated cases south of the Red Deer River.

The policy is made possible through the co-operation of the federal department of agriculture which is assuming one-half of the freight charges, the other half being borne by the provincial department. Only carload shipments are arranged for. The tariff provides that only No. 1 and No. 2 seed will be shipped and as far as possible shipment will be confined to the highest grade, namely No. 1.

KING TUT WHEAT ALL A MYTH

Just Another Swindle Perpetuated on Credulous Public

Inquiries have been made at the Alberta University regarding King Tut wheat, which is supposed to have come from the tomb of Tutankhamen at Luxor, Egypt. It might be frankly stated that this is pure "bunk." There is not the slightest possibility of such ancient wheat germinating today. This King Tut wheat is nothing more than a revival of the old swindle game of selling undesirable wheat, together with much misinformation, to unsuspecting farmers. The wheat is usually known as Egyptian, and belongs to the class Triticum turgidum. In the seed trade it is sometimes sold as Alaska, Miracle, Seven-headed, Egyptian Wonder, and now as King Tut. Every few years some unscrupulous individuals seem to revive the old variety under a new name, and sell it at exorbitant prices.

Egyptian wheat is easily distinguished by its branched head. This character gives it the appearance of being very productive, but as a matter of fact it does not yield as well as the commonly grown varieties of good bread wheats. It is of very poor milling and baking quality; for bread making it is very undesirable.

If Egyptian wheat or any other wheats of the same type were grown to any extent in Alberta it would have a most depressing effect on both the local and foreign markets. Our export grain containing mixtures of commercial grade. High and uniform quality in Canadian export grain is now more necessary than ever, since the struggle in the world grain markets grows more severe every year.

BONUSES SPLIT WITH WORKERS

We often hear that wages should not be diminished because it is the amount of wages and their purchasing power which make production possible.

However there is another element which must be considered. I believe that a system will be found by which above the wages due laborers, there will also be a division of the profits of a company on a more equitable basis than exists today.

Capital is absolutely powerless unless labor is joined with it and labor can do little, even with mountains of resources, unless capital is joined with it. These necessary partners should have a fair division of surplus profits between them, instead of the excess profits being turned over to the directors of a company in the form of bonuses. There should be some means of insuring a fair division of wealth amongst those who produce it.

Take an example. Not long ago there was a celebrated law suit in the United States of America. The Bethlehem Steel Company was proposing to absorb another large industry, and the directors of the two companies had come to an agreement and arranged a plan, but a minority of the shareholders took exception to the plan, and a law suit ensued. I followed the progress of that law suit carefully, and these facts came out before the judges; that the president of the Bethlehem Steel Company, in addition to the salary which was voted to him by the directors and approved by the shareholders, drew the sum of $1,262,000 as a bonus on the year's operation; and, more astounding still, four of the higher officials of the Bethlehem Steel Company had, together with the president, drawn out a little more than four and a half million dollars before any return was made to the shareholders in any shape or form. Yesterday I took up a United States newspaper and found that the president of a tobacco company had received in the last year of his incumbency $1,220,000 in addition to his salary, and that five vice-presidents took out about $500,000 divided as bonuses amongst themselves.—Sir George Foster.

It is noted in the Western Canada News Bulletin that production in the following industries in the Prairie Provinces now exceeds $9,000,000—cotton and jute bags; men's furnishing goods; dyeing, cleaning and laundry work; women's factory clothing; hosiery, knit goods and fabric gloves men's factory clothing; hats and caps awnings, tents and sails; carpets and other textile industries.

OIL COMPANIES HUNT MARKETS

Independent oil companies of Turner-Valley are, according to the Tri-City Observer, doing quite a business in unrefined gasoline. Last week trucks arrived from east of Edmonton and distant points, with about 100 trucks arriving during the week. The largest truck load which went out was a 700 gallon tank and 16 barrels of gasoline, about 1700 gallons of gasoline altogether. Most trucks haul about 500 gallons per trip.

A big rush is expected before spring work starts.

BEEF COUNCIL IS ACTIVE

R. R. Macleay, Chairman of Inter-Provincial Group, Embracing Alberta, Sask. and B. C.

At a meeting of the Council of Western Beef Producers held in Calgary last week the object of the council was announced as being the bringing together of sellers and buyers of cattle and the studying of export markets for surplus animals.

It was decided to open an office in Calgary and a permanent secretary-treasurer has been appointed in the person of Mr. Jack Byers. Meanwhile, the council has established headquarters in Room 5, Central building.

It is understood the council is already in receipt of inquiries from feeders as far east as Fredericton, N.B. These men are looking for stocker and feeder cattle and it is suggested that ranchers having such for sale should forward a full description of them to the council.

Ocean space for shipment to Great Britain has been reserved by the council and the first shipment of beef cattle to leave the west under the auspices of the council is scheduled from Calgary, April 9 sailing from West St. John on April 16.

Stock men desiring to export animals should communicate with the acting secretary at the address given under delay.

Messrs. Helmer of Nicols, and McMorran, of Chilcotin, represented the British Columbia producers. R. Gilchrist, of Vidora and Edward Evans, of Moose Jaw, the Saskatchewan ranchers and George Ross of Milk River and R.R. Macleay of High River, the Alberta interests. The latter officiated as chairman.

AUSTRALIA SELLS CHINA WHEAT

Exchange Situations and Australia's Drop in Currency Gives Them the Advantage

By reason of the great depreciation of Australian currency, Australia has proved a formidable competitor of Canada in selling wheat to China. Canada has been practically cut out of the Chinese market because Australia can deliver in Shanghai at from $2 to $3 a ton cheaper than Canadian wheat.

In January and February, Australia is said to have contracted to ship 100,000 tons of wheat to China.

Contracts between China and Australia are financed in London where exchange ruled £130 Australian to £100 sterling. This gave Australians a great chance to sell wheat in enormous quantities to China at the expense of Canadians.

APRIL BECKONS GARDENERS

Spring Days Lure Everyone to Take Up the Shovel and Hoe

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on planting sweet peas early. As a rule any failure to realize to the fullest on these beautiful flowers is a result of late planting. Sow as early as possible choosing the part of the garden fittest to work.

Cosmos, which is late blooming is the next to go in as soon as the ground is ready and at the same time the calliope should be planted. This is not as tall growing as the cosmos. After danger of frost zinnias, asters and marigold, all of medium height, may be planted, and for short stuff along front of borders, white alyssum, blue lobelia and pansies may be chosen.

In planting sweet peas, the depth is important, to carry the roots through the hot, dry summer months. The simplest plan is a trench two feet deep. In the bottom of this put a foot layer of rotted leaves, manure or other vegetable refuse which the roots can easily penetrate. Cover this with two inches of garden loam. Plant the seed in this inch deep, and four inches apart. As soon as the plants appear about the top of the soil gradually fill in the trench, a half inch or so every week in order to develop further root growth.

Sweet peas are a cool weather plant and if they are to keep blooming in July and August their roots must be deep in cool soil.

HAVEN'T SEEN ANYTHING YET

Inventions in Science Which Lie Just Round the Corner

When everybody uses electricity, the cost will be much cheaper. European countries are well in advance of us in utilizing electric power in numerous ways. But the time is approaching when all farms will be wired for electricity, when highway will be flooded with light, when railways will be run electrically. Houses will be heated with it and cooled with it, by the same machine. In one compact cabinet in the living room will be your radio, television, phonograph and newspaper reproducer. When any big event—say a world series game is in progress, you will sit before your magic cabinet and hear and see it all.

Later you will press a button and out will come your newspaper. The paper will be printed right in the living room and the most remote farm will get it as quickly as any place. Such papers will be sent by wireless, perfect facsimiles of the original.

The "electric eye" is one of the modern wonders. It is a small glass bulb, resembling radio tubes, incredibly sensitive. The slightest disturbance registers with the electric eye and it is adjusted for traffic signals, fire alarms, burglar alarms, counting crowds. Already it is used with unbelievable results, because man has learned to govern the movement of tiny electrons. With an x-ray tube he can shoot electrons into food and charge it with vitamins which will result eventually in synthetic food from factories.

These inventions are now in the making, just over the horizon and in the light their imminence, we can prepare ourselves for greater leisure.

DR. G. D. STANLEY ON AIR MAIL

Calgary Member Explains Difficulties Maintaining Air Mail

The air mail operations of 1930 faced a loss of $2,000,000, and this fact suggests the possibility that the air mail service in Canada may be temporarily curtailed. This is an opinion expressed by Dr. Stanley to the Calgary press, when asked about the future of air mail operations.

"Actual air mail service," said Dr. Stanley, "is restricted to a small majority of the people in actual practice, and with the existing excellent train service the government has strong competition. The long prairie distances are the heaviest argument against the air mail becoming self-sustaining. On investigation it has been found that under present use and conditions, it costs $37 per letter to carry air mail. Calgary sends two letters by air for every one sent by Winnipeg.

"There will be no extension of air mail service this year and curtailment is a possibility."

REVENUE SOURCES TO BE TAPPED

National revenue is steadily decreasing and new sources of revenue must be found. What these sources will be is not yet known, but the editorial page of the Country Guide offers some suggestions.

It touches first on the personal income and corporation income tax, which are based entirely on the taxpayers' ability to pay. Today unmarried persons earning less than $1500 are exempt, and married people have the first $3000 exempt with an additional exemption of $500 for each dependent child.

In Canada those on salaries and fixed incomes are better off than they ever were as the cost of living is reduced.

"It is from this class of people that the finance minister should look for a larger contribution to the public treasury.

A married person with a $10,000 income pays only $200 to the federal government, and a person with that income can well pay a heavier tax.

Corporations also that are earning profits should contribute a larger proportion of profits, and those corporations which today are earning no profits, would not be affected.

The strongest opposition to the personal income tax is as a rule from those in the best position to pay.

One argument used is that tax on capital interferes with the development of business. This is quite true but all taxes of every description are a decrease in a person's capital. It interferes with the development of a farmer's business, just the same as the manufacturer.

Those who pay the taxes should as far as possible be those who can afford to pay them. The income tax is the only Canadian tax that gathers revenue from the people in proportion to their ability to pay.

Historic Wolfe's Cove Assumes New Aspect

The scene of the landing of General Wolfe, under the towering crags crowned by the Plains of Abraham and the City of Quebec, is about to become the setting for yet another important event in the history of Canada. On September 13, 1759, the British forces disembarked at what is now known as Wolfe's Cove, to capture Quebec. On June 2, 1931, passengers from the new 42,500-ton Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain", on her maiden voyage from Southampton, will land within a few yards of the same spot and be taken by train, through a tunnel slightly over a mile long, under the historic battle-field on which the English hero lost his life, direct to the Canadian Pacific's main line to Montreal. This new traffic link, which is being completed by the company at a cost of some $2,000,000, will eliminate the present journey through Quebec's terminals and materially shorten the running time from the ship's side to all important Canadian and American centres. A concrete quay-wall, 4,300 feet in length, with 40 feet of water at low tide, will provide berthing space for the new giantess and her sister "White Empresses", and five railway tracks, converging into one at the end of the wharf and thence turning into the new tunnel, will serve to transfer passengers from the bosom of the St. Lawrence to their respective destinations. Disembarkation will be effected through a two-storey shed, with stairways leading down to the trains. The pictures show: (1) Wolfe's army landing to capture Quebec, (from an old drawing). (2) The tunnel mouth near the riverside, now under construction. (3) General Wolfe.

MR. COOTE'S THEORY WINS ATTENTION

Mr. George Coote's radical suggestion that the depreciation of Canadian currency would prove a betterment to the Canadian West, is at any rate commanding attention.

Not only has he found backers in Ottawa, but the Canadian newspapers are discussing the idea. They are not committing themselves decisively, but on the other hand there is no inclination to blast the proposal with scorn. The general note seems to be "There may be something in it." The Manitoba Free Press correspondent at Ottawa, says on the subject:

Mr. Coote presents an interesting case. It is this: Canada's dollar will stay at par if Canadian exports and imports balance. Last year, counting in the "invisible" items such as tourist trade, shipping costs and interest on debts, there was a balance against the Dominion. In these circumstances the dollar can be held up only by exporting gold and floating foreign loans. Let the Government cease both and the dollar will decline—perhaps 10 per cent., or more. This will be an advantage to the Canadian exporter. If wheat to the value of £100 is sold at Liverpool, the £100 of London exchange so acquired will be worth more than the normal $486 in Canada. It may be worth $600.

The currencies of both Australia and the Argentine are at present depreciated, and this fact, says Mr. Coote, works to the advantage of Australian and Argentine wheat-growers in competing with Canada. For this opinion he has strong support. Hon. H. M. Marler, Canadian Minister at Tokyo, who was sent to China by Mr. Bennett to study the possibility of selling wheat there, reported that Canada could not compete with Australia in that market. And the reason he gave was that Australian currency was depreciated.

There are arguments against the proposal. Depreciation of the dollar would mean, in time if not at once, an increase in prices. It would also increase the difficulty of paying interest on Canadian loans, including the borrowings of Western governments, in New York. Further, the weapon of currency depreciation is one which all nations can use if so disposed. These objections are recognized by the Alberta farmer group in the House. Their answer is that the ill effects of letting the dollar go down would not equal the beneficial effect on western buying power. The ill effects, they also say, could be postponed, and might not be felt at all since the dollar would right itself by the normal recovery of Canadian export trade.

WHY FARMERS MUST UNITE

"When the Eastern manufacturers finds that profits are dwindling all it needs to do is to take a quiet trip to Ottawa and have a quiet interview with the proper authorities and he gets a quiet increase in the tariff. It may not even be necessary for him to seek the help of legislation, which is always apt to involve a certain amount of undesirable and noisy publicity; often the end can be attained by a quiet order-in-council which doesn't get into the papers. When the Eastern financier makes a mess of things he puts his company through a quiet process which is known as reconstruction of its capital structure, and unloads his burden upon the stockholders or bondholders who are mostly quiet books anyway and won't understand what it is all about. But the Western farmer has no such easy method of shifting his troubles on to other people. He has to sell his goods in a world market. He has found by experience that he can make his political influence felt only by public organization with his fellows, by continuous propaganda, and by constant open pressure upon the Ottawa politicians. Nature did not make him any noisier than are the dignified industrialists and financiers in their carpeted offices in Toronto and Montreal. It has merely denied him the same opportunity for getting rich quietly at the expense of other people."—Canadian Forum.

WHEAT NATIONS TO MEET AGAIN

Several matters were definitely cleared at the great wheat conference held in Rome last week, and with this information disposed of, a further conference will be held May 18th in London. The next event is primarily for the purpose of reaching some international agreement regarding orderly marketing of the 1931-32 crop.

This motion was made by Hon. Howard Ferguson and was adopted at the world conference. It would comprise Argentina, Australia, Russia, Canada, Bulgaria, Hungary, India, Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia and United States would also be invited to participate. The gathering will meet at Canada House, London, with Hon. Howard Ferguson, presiding.

As a result of the Rome Conference it was found that the compulsory limitation of wheat areas is impracticable, but that a tendency to reduce acreage may be generally stimulated. It was found further that European nations can not renounce wheat growing.

The report recommended propaganda for the consumption of wheat bread, both in countries where it is now used and in others. To stimulate the use of such bread amongst non-using countries, it was suggested that some of the wheat surpluses might be disposed of there at especially low rates.

Armed with further statistics regarding their wheat resources, etc., the countries concerned express approval of this May conference which may bring practical result in the orderly disposal of wheat on world markets.

GARDENS BLOOM ALL SUMMER LONG

For the early spring bloom bed ding violas, early single tulips, Iceland poppies and Alpine phlox are available. The violas come in a variety of colors and begin to bloom in April or early in May. The early single tulips are very hardy and offer a wide range of color from May 29 until the middle of June. Iceland poppies bloom in May and June and may be had in several colors.

In June bleeding-heart, perennials, sweet rocket, iris, the coral lily, and towards the end of the month peonies are in bloom. Perennial pinks of many species are hardy. They are very bright flowers, are quite dwarf in habit of growth and very fragrant.

In July the peonies are a riot of color and perennial lupines, scarlet lychins, oriental poppies, Carpathian bell flower, blanket flowers, perennials baby's breath, day lilies, speedwell and yellow camellia add variety to the perennial garden.

In August perennial phlox, tiger lilies and golden glow begin to bloom, and many of those blooming in July continue through this month.

Tall plants may be selected for background, lower ones for centre and the dwarf for the front.

BESSBOROUGH AND SUITE ARRIVE

The royal salute crashed from the walls of Halifax Citadel on Saturday last, as the new Governor-General of Canada and his wife arrived on Canadian soil.

Those who arrived from Ottawa to meet the vice-regal party at Halifax were Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Miss Mildred Bennett; Hon. E. T. Newcombe, deputy administrator, and Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of State. The Provincial Premier, George Gray of Halifax read addresses of don Harrington and Mayor Gaston-welcome.

VALLEY GAS MAY HAVE A CHANCE

Of interest to Turner Valley and its neighbors is the fact that the city of Regina defeated the by-law which would give Tri-Cities Utilities the gas franchise for the city. A total of 2815 votes were registered for, and 2221 voted against, but a two-third majority is required.

The defeating of this by-law, which would have meant the taking of gas from the Kinsella field, opens the door for other negotiations. Canadian Western Natural gas may now revive proposals, and the Turner Valley independents, A. H. Mayland, Herron, Davies and Dallas, may also enter the ring again.

The vote at Regina and at Saskatoon is not considered by Alberta oil and gas interests as a vote against Alberta gas, but more as a revolt against the proposition of Tri-Cities which was favored by the councils of Regina and Saskatoon.

It is stated that four per cent of the population of this country controls 80 per cent of the nation's wealth. This fact possibly accounts for the present depression. Meanwhile the rich are becoming richer and the poor, poorer.

The Supreme Court of Alberta allowed that Mayland Oil Co., were operating under a Federal charter, and that the provincial government had no authority to investigate their books.

CANADA RADIUM FOR WORLD NEEDS

From the Gazette, Montreal, comes the following startling rumor:

"Canada may shortly produce radium in commercial quantities. Samples from a pitchblend discovery at Echo Bay, Great Bear Lake, Northwest Territories, have been analyzed by the Department of Mines and the uranium-radium content in these samples is very promising. If the deposit is extensive and carries throughout the same or near the same uranium-radium content as the samples, then Canada will supplant Belgium in radium production.

"Echo Bay on Great Bear Lake can be reached from the railroad at Fort McMurray by navigation, except for a 15-mile portage at Fort Smith. The distance from Fort McMurray to Echo Bay is 750 miles, and navigation is open five months of the year. It is believed the ore, if up to sample would easily bear the cost of transportation by aeroplane. A government party will report this summer on the extent of the deposit."

SCIENCE REVEALS MODERN ADVANCE

It usually remains for scientists whose business it is to dip into the past, to prick the bubble of complacency which surrounds modern man. Dr. Hector Macleod who has been addressing Boards of Trade in the south during the past week, has turned the light on early civilizations to show that they had made remarkable advances in applied science thousands of years ago, and in the more recent past, a changing attitude toward the problems of mankind has marked civilization's greatest advance.

The ancient Egyptians had divided the solar-year into 12 months of 30 days each, with five days of holidays at the end. Romans had piped water for 50 miles from the city with houses equipped with water systems. The flood of the Nile had been doubled in ancient times by sound scientific knowledge. The Spray Lakes plan of engineering, had been preceded by the construction of the Fayum basin 1900 years ago—another fine piece of engineering. The Greek calendar, the Egyptian pyramids had well developed mathematical background.

In his methods of combatting disease and in the science of medicine, man has advanced greatly in the last 100 years.

Modern man is not so greatly superior in intelligence to his ancestor of 4000 years ago, but he is the product of the inquiring human mind of the centuries. He is approaching his social problems in scientific spirit.

At first man was member of the family, next of the tribe, now of the nation. Now he is becoming conscious of his position as a citizen of the world. It is in the co-operation which science is helping to bring about, that man will view with wider vision his relationship to the world at large. In this vision of co-operation lies the hope of future civilization.

ASIA AND SILVER

In an address in Toronto, Mr. Cromie is quoted as saying that Great Britain can save herself without borrowing and so can Canada and the United States save themselves from further depression but the only way that they can do is to develop the Asiatic market.

"The way to play China, India and these other countries of Asia—where half the earth's people live," Mr. Cromie said, "is to recognize their silver currency or else have an international agreement on some currency that they can get hold of and that we can recognize and that will bring these people back into the world's market."

NO BIG CHANGES IN NEW SCHOOL ACT

None of Old Contentious Clauses Broached in Baker's Amendments Recently Passed

Those old fighting points of the Baker School Act which invigorated the last two sessions of Legislature were not introduced at the past session. Omitted features were the full time operation of all schools, equalization of all school burdens, suitable placing of teachers in schools for which they are best fitted, providing high school training for country pupils.

However, important provisions are made in regard to contract rights between boards and teachers. Letters sent to teachers by secretaries or chairmen of boards, engaging their services, are binding. Boards have the month of June in which to decide whether or not a teacher shall be continued, and teachers have June and July in which to decide whether or not to stay. Outside of those periods or notices of termination are to be given by either party without the approval of the inspector being previously obtained.

A clause in the trustee-teacher agreement providing that there shall be no thirty-two day notice of termination of contract until the board has held a meeting has been cancelled.

Additional holidays, other than the recognized statutory days, will not be permitted in excess of one in each month.

No person may on any school premises canvass a teacher or offer to sell any merchandise.

Easter week will in future be a holiday-time for all school districts, but in cases where the board and the teacher mutually agree to teach on such days, they shall be recognized as legal teaching days.

Things are changing for the better. All the winners of the Grand National lottery were poor.

It is safe to guess that even though you can't get a scent out of skunks you'll pay just as much for Alaska sable.

Mayor Bill Thompson is again, or yet, fighting King George for control of Chicago. King George had an ancestor, George IV to wit, who believed that he fought Napoleon at Waterloo. It was a harmless delusion.

TO FACILITATE CHINESE TRADE

Only Bonafide Students and Business Men Admitted From China

To stimulate trade and good will between Canada and China, the Federal Government is facilitating the entry into Canada of bona fide Chinese students and business men.

The present Federal statute controlling Chinese immigration was enacted in 1923 and it is not proposed to bring forward amendments which will place further obstacles between the two countries.

So far as immigration is concerned the Federal government, if anything, will enforce existing law more vigorously than before. The closed door policy to Oriental immigration is to be applied to the limit of the government's power.

In the case of bona fide business men and students who desire to come to Canada, temporarily, there will be no disposition to hurry them or prevent their entrance. But care will be taken to be certain of their credentials. In the past, it is stated, a good few "students" put in their "classes" in laundry establishments.

The Wheat Pools of Canada being comprised of human beings, have made mistakes and been flayed mercilessly for them. But today the Pool is in the heat of the battle for economic and social rights which are essential for a satisfactory standard of living on the farms; right which the farmer could not gain through individual effort.

The Pool is still convinced that the producer will receive the maximum share of the selling price of his product only through his own efforts to market in an orderly manner as actual demand arises.

The spirit behind the Pool will never be stamped out. It has succeeded in creating a new conception of self respect amongst western Canadian Farmers and they will never go back to the knuckle-down and grin days.

The Pool can be said to share the sentiments of Ramsay MacDonald: "We want to bring back light into the villages and farms and to make men feel that agriculture is not drudgery. We want to put into it new energy, skill and science, better wages and houses and closer friendship."

WHEAT POOL FINDS ADVOCATE

In The New Freeman, an American publication, W. R. Herbert records the birth, growth and tribulation of the Canadian Wheat Pool and sums up the situation.

"While the Wheat Pool has experienced serious difficulties in the past years, the attitude has been similar to that of the Cockney who said 'Kick 'im 'Arry, 'e's still breathein'." All the misfortunes of the land—unemployment, traffic stagnation, retarded collection, decline of export trade; general depression—have been placed on the Pool's doorstep, while the real fathers of these unwanted children have been kept in the background.

PRODUCE MORE THAN WHEAT

Eastern Canada has taken note of a speech made in the House of Commons recently by B. M. Stitt of Nelson, Manitoba. From him, they learned that the new hinterland of the West longed for barren, is a land of great potentialities. It is bringing fresh money and a brand new industry to the West.

Last November the Flin Flon was brought into production, and has already shipped out 247 cars of blistered copper and zinc. It is producing at present $30,000 worth of metal a day. The new town of Flin Flon at the smelter has a population of 1500 people. This is new money for Manitoba.

The Sherritt-Gordon also came into production recently and is producing 500 tons a day.

In addition to mining there is also forestry. The Pas has a lumber mill producing 3,000,000 feet per week. There is spruce as far north as Mile 300 for pulp and paper. The Churchill and Nelson rivers have 3,000,000 horsepower waiting development.

Mr. Stitt also is emphatic as to the feasibility of Fort Churchill as a shipping port and the value of the Hudson Bay route. He says: "Scores of craft have been taken in by this route by the department of railways and canals, with few casualties. I have been told by shipmasters that they would rather take a ship into Fort Churchill than into Montreal. That is what they think of the perils of the Hudson Straits. I have received opinions from about fifty sea captains and they agree that the average season of navigation will be from seventeen weeks to four and one half months."

If Mr. Stitt is anywhere near the mark, the Churchill route will be a shipping port for Europe not only for Western Canada but for the North Western States.
